Can we minimize Road accidents ?

Road safety is a concern for all irrespective of gender. It is a matter of fact that lack of etiquettes on the road is seen to be much dangerous for the lives of citizens. Road safety is a priority and concern to all of us and there is a need of regularly reinforcing this message. The true costs of accidents are rarely assessed, and can only be of full value if assessed to formulate future projections of loss probability and effective safety management. It seems as if no one is interested in striking at the root of the traffic problems: poor driver education. The road users should avoid driving recklessly. The other example of neglecting while driving or riding are using hand phone while driving, driving when you are sleepy, driving under the influence of drugs or alcohol and playing loud music while driving. Roads are a mess today not need to focus more on such offenders. The other example of neglecting while driving or riding are using hand phone while driving, driving when you are sleepy, driving under the influence of drugs or alcohol and playing loud music while driving. If the authorities are interested in proper traffic management, the RTOs need to be modernized and upgraded. It is a matter of fact that lack of etiquettes on the road is seen to be much dangerous for the lives of citizens. No one follows the traffic rules and even not the traffic police can handle. Bikers are often a headache and we need to focus more on such offenders. The other example of neglecting while driving or riding are using hand phone while driving, driving when you are sleepy, driving under the influence of drugs or alcohol and playing loud music while driving. If the authorities are interested in proper traffic management, the RTOs need to be modernized and upgraded. Duty timings of traffic cops should also be extended to man this busy junction to check erring motorists. Many people drive at 6-7 in the evening with their high-beams on, which can blind the driver on the opposite side. Also, lane-driving must be made mandatory. Drivers must be sensitized about the rights of the pedestrians. Roads are a mess today not because of the bad quality of work, but bad planning. Lane sizes, pedestrian crossings, traffic signals or left-turns are poorly designed. We should fix these at the earliest. Lack of knowledge about correct use of high-beam headlights creates problem at night. People just get a license with little knowledge about honking and lighting norms. Many people drive at 6-7 in the evening with their high-beams on, which can blind the driver on the opposite side. This is a bad practice as it can result in accidents. There's no concept of lane-driving. All they understand is that the road is their race track and they need to be the first one even if that means overtaking a guy who just gave the indicator to take a turn. At traffic signals, people taking a right-turn tend to stop in the middle of the lane, thus blocking the traffic. If we go through the statistics of road accident data 2015 reveals that around 1,374 accidents and 400 deaths take place every day on Indian roads, resulting in 57 accidents and loss of 17 lives on an average every hour. SC has also expressed its concern at the high number of road accident fatalities - 1.5 lakh - every year in India. Stringent laws against drunk and rash driving, proper and effective enforcement of the laws and the tough and sincere judiciary in dealing with the accidents alone could ultimately have a positive effect in dealing with the ever growing accidents. Cops tend to overlook the bikers who ride without a helmet and indulge in rash driving, but they fine someone, who may be in a hurry to reach hospital, for over speeding. If people drive more sensibly, our roads will be safer for all. Let's stop giving excuses, instead look for solutions on the basis of suggestions received from experts and concerned citizens. People must be taught road etiquette, which could reduce 50% of disarray on streets. Vienna to focus on family travelers from Gujarat

Ahmedabad: Multigenerational travel has become a top global travel trend with people wanting grandparents and kids to bond over vacations. Indians, however, have been travelling in large family groups always and seeking out destinations where three generations can be comfortable. When it comes to family travel there can be no better place than Austrian Capital Vienna with plenty of parks, activities, festivals, food choices and cultural events to please every taste - and free entry for children at most museums. The iconic city holds as much charm for young travelers and romantic honeymooners as for young children. Not surprisingly, the city has been a top destination for Indian travelers. For Vienna Tourist Board, India is among the 20 most prominent markets. "As Indians are known to travel together in small family groups - that often includes grandparents as well as grandchildren - we will welcome family travelers from Western India, especially Gujarat, simply because the city has lots to offer to travelers of every age group," says Ms Isabella Rauter, global head of public relations, Vienna Tourist Board.
