

Sadhvi raped at Jharkhand ashram, one held, hunt on for 3 others

Ranchi, One of four persons accused of raping a 46-year-old Sadhvi at her ashram late on Monday night in Jharkhand's Godda district has been arrested on Tuesday, while a special investigation team (SIT) was constituted to nab the other three accused, police said. The arrested accused was identified as Deepak Rana (22), who, police claimed, confessed to his crime. An FIR was lodged against four persons, including two unidentified men, who reportedly barged into the ashram to commit the crime, on basis of the complaint filed by the Sadhvi at Mufassil police station. Godda superintendent of police YS Ramesh said, "Detailed investigation is on in the case. All forensic evidence has been collected and a special forensic team has been called in," he said. Officer in-charge of Mufassil police station, Jyotish Jaiswal, said

The ashram, located in Godda district, is said to be spread over four acres of land and six people including five women and a man reside there. The lone male member at the ashram, said, "Four armed men entered the ashram on Monday night. When I tried to stop them, they beat me and locked me up in a room. They also locked four other sadhvis in separate rooms. We also took the victim into our room. But, they dragged her out and locked me from outside."

addicted to continuously bad news about COVID-19 without the ability to stop or step back. It will jump the screen time to more than 50% and we really need to avoid doom scrolling at the time of this pandemic. Priti has also explained the disadvantages of continuous usage of the Internet which can affect physically and psychologically. People are also suffering from dry eyes problems. We need to understand that the use of technology should be limited and one needs to make peace with it. She had also talked about what happens when we binge watch TV series. She said that "It is like a packet of chips, once we start eating one or two chips, we get cravings to have more. Similarly, once we start watching a web series, we follow it to the end". She has also shared many ways to help detoxify children and young adults. (13-9)

Stop Doom scrolling with the news and make peace with technology

Ahmedabad, The FICCI Ladies Organization (FLO) - Ahmedabad Chapter Chairperson, Mrs. Taruna Patel along with her dynamic team organized a webinar on 'Digital Detox' with Guest speaker, Ms. Priti Phatale, a certified life coach specializing in the area of mental health. She has been helping people with coping mechanisms on issues like anxiety, depression, anger, stress management etc. On being asked about what is digital detox and how it impacts our life, she replied that the thing which is easily available to us is mobile and we don't know how time flies by using social media. Nowadays, people are doom scrolling on the Internet rather than productive scrolling. Doom scrolling is to continue scrolling the bad news even though that news is saddening, disheartening or depressing. For ex number of people are finding themselves

Retired female professor murdered in Dehradun, killer entered through window

Dehradun, A 66-year-old retired female professor, originally from Kolkata, was allegedly murdered by unidentified accused at her Dehradun house in the wee hours of Wednesday in Doiwala area of Uttarakhand's capital, said police. According to local Doiwala police, the deceased was identified as one Putap Ghosh who hailed from Kolkata and used to live alone in her house in Dehradun.

Senior sub-inspector Mahavir Singh Rawat, who was probing the incident on the spot, said, "The incident seemed to have happened at night as police were informed by a local on Wednesday at around 7 am after which it rushed to the spot to initiate an investigation." Rawat added, "Prima facie it was found that she was strangled to death by an unidentified person who entered from a window from the backside of the house. A probe has been started in the case."

Meanwhile, another police officer privy to the investigation, said on the condition of anonymity: "The deceased was a highly qualified person and often used to go abroad on professional tours and lectures. She sometimes also used to visit some Dehradun based institutions for giving lectures."

Gurugram property owners can now submit details online for NOC

Gurugram, Property owners can now submit applications online to the department of town and country planning (DTCP) to obtain a no-objection certificate (NOC), which has been made mandatory under the new property registration regime. A DTCP spokesperson on Tuesday said that the department website has been updated for property buyers and owners to submit details after which an NOC will be issued to them.

under the Urban Area Act of 1975 for property registration, the department had begun to applications in an online format from September 8.

The decision follows the Haryana government decision to make it mandatory for buyers and sellers to obtain NOC from DTCP to prevent illegal registries. "All the details of the seller and buyer will be taken on the online form along with the land details for which the NOC is required. The software application has been launched today and can be accessed from the Department's portal at https://tchparyana.gov.in," said the spokesperson of the town planning department.

He further said that the application aims to issue timely NOCs to the applicants. The reform will bring relief to the applicants as the applicants will not be required to submit any hardcopy documents and all approvals will be conveyed online, hence another step towards paperless, faceless governance. He said that eventually, the application will be integrated with the WebHALRIS software used by the revenue department for registration and the NOCs issued by the department will reflect in WebHALRIS thus saving the citizens from the hassles of first getting the NOCs issued from the department and then submitting the same in tehsil offices for getting their properties registered.

Insurers Witness a Rise in non-Coronavirus Claims After Lockdown

Ahmedabad, COVID-19 positive cases in India have surged past the 3.65 million figure, however, in the last few months a little more than 1 Lakh people have so far utilised their health insurance policy for the treatment of the novel coronavirus. Amit Chhabra, Health Business Head, Policybazaar.com Said On the other hand, general insurers and specialised health insurers are witnessing a steady rise in non-covid related health insurance claims as normalcy returns after the stringent lockdown is eased by the government. There has been a 64 per cent increase in July for such claims versus average claims in April, May and June. Of these claims, only 10 per cent are COVID-19 related claims. The rise in claims is mostly coming from elective procedures that were postponed on account of COVID-19 in the last few months. During the lockdown period, non-life insurers saw an almost 40 per cent drop in non-Covid claims. The claims are mainly for treatments of cancer, dialysis, cataract surgeries and cardiac treatments. With a recovery rate of 88.98%, Bihar ahead of other states on Covid-19 parameters

Patna, Bihar has a reason to be hopeful over its management of the Covid-19 health crisis. At six deaths per million, it ranks the best in this category. Kerala and Assam, with 10 deaths per million each, are next, according to government data released on Tuesday. Bihar's test positivity rate was also the lowest at 0.9%, followed by Gujarat (1.8%) and Uttar Pradesh (4.3%) on September 8. Some other states like Maharashtra, Delhi, Andhra Pradesh and Tamil Nadu have a few things to ponder over.

At 10,343 cases per million, Delhi ranked the highest, followed by Andhra Pradesh (9,363) and Maharashtra (7,500). Delhi also ranked highest in terms of Covid-19 deaths per million (246), followed by Maharashtra (219) and Tamil Nadu (102). Bihar has been able to shed the ignominy of being the state with lowest tests per million — a position it had occupied till early August — with the ramping up of testing facilities after July 27, when Pratya Amrit was posted as the principal secretary of Bihar's health department.

On Monday, Bihar tested 1,53,156 lakh samples, the highest in a day so far, with the average daily testing hovering over 1 lakh tests since August 13. The increased testing had led to a decline in its tests' positivity rate. Most tests being done were rapid antigen-based, which had up to 40% probability of giving false negative results. The Centre has already advised states to mandatorily do RT-PCR tests of Covid-19 symptomatic people, testing negative on rapid antigen kit. However, many states were not following this practice, leaving out missing cases, said a senior officer of the health ministry. Bihar, for instance, had done reverse transcription polymerase chain reaction (RT-PCR) tests of only 6.55% (9,901) samples out of the total 1,51,033 tested on September 5. Rapid antigen tests accounted for 1,36,870, while another 4,262 tests were done on TrueNat machines. The Indian Council of Medical Research (ICMR) had on May 19 revised its testing guidelines to allow the use of the TrueNat system for screening and confirmation of Covid-19. The test uses a person's nose or throat swab samples. The nucleic acid extracted from the sample has to be followed by an RT-PCR. Unlike traditional RT-PCR tests, the sample preparation in TrueNat tests is automated, and the results are available within half an hour. Only 3.11% (1,364) institutional beds were utilised out of the total 43,748 Covid-19 isolation beds available at different levels, while 14,401 patients were under home isolation as per government data of September 5. Bihar's case recovery rate was 88.98% as against the national average of 77.65% on Tuesday.
